SUSTAINABILITY COMMITMENT

Our UEBT Certification

In Tahiti, each tiare flower is hand-picked at dawn to capture its full fragrance and purity. This traditional practice has been passed down for generations, preserving local knowledge and cultural heritage.

Our tiare flowers, used to make Monoï, are cultivated in Tahiti according to UEBT standards, respecting local ecosystems and biodiversity, while ensuring ethical production. We proudly honour the traditional knowledge and practices of the communities who care for these natural treasures.

By choosing products made with these UEBT-certified tiare flowers, you not only enjoy the flower's exquisite scent and skin-loving properties, but you also join us in supporting communities and protecting nature. Bring the essence of Tahiti into your cosmetic creations in a responsible and meaningful way!
